PEOPLE OF SEATTLE

We Are Muckleshoot

Our name and our Tribe represents our ancestors, the Duwamish and Upper Puyallup peoples who moved from Puget Sound – including what is now the Seattle waterfront – to our reservation on the Muckleshoot prairie.

For more than 164 years, we have fought to preserve and uphold our treaty rights, our sovereignty, and our heritage.

Today, the spirits of our ancestors live on in our traditions, our arts, and our community. They define where we came from, who we are, and where we are going.

Our identity, our legacy, and our treaty rights are unique to our name and Tribe, and ours alone.

We hope you enjoy the 2023 Seattle Mariners Yearbook. It is filled with award-winning photography to give you an inside look at our players and information about T-Mobile Park and our organization.

The 2022 season was one for the books for the Mariners. After starting slowly, the club roared down the stretch, winning 61 of its last 94 games (a .649 winning percentage). An epic Cal Raleigh walk-off home run sent the team to the postseason.

In the playoffs, Seattle swept the favored Toronto Blue Jays in their home ballpark, before falling to the eventual World Champions in a hard fought series (Houston came to bat tied or trailing in 33 of 36 innings in the Division Series).

It was the club's second-consecutive 90-win season, and all signs point to an even better 2023.

Rookie of the Year Julio Rodríguez returns poised for an even bigger year. He joins a young core that is the envy of baseball, with the likes of Logan Gilbert, George Kirby, Raleigh, Andrés Muñoz and more.

We acquired Teoscar Hernández to bolster the outfield and Kolten Wong for more infield pop. They join Ty France, J.P. Crawford, Eugenio Suárez, Cal and Julio for a dynamic offense. And there is plenty of pitching, with Luis Castillo, Robbie Ray, Marco Gonzales, Kirby and Gilbert leading the starters, and a depth of bullpen arms fronted by Paul Sewald, Muñoz, Diego Castillo, Matt Brash, Penn Murfee and plenty of other young fireballers.

Heading into its 24th season, T-Mobile Park just keeps getting better.

We've added $10 tickets for all 81 home games, expanded the value menu, added more Walkoff Markets to make it easier to get back to your seat and catch all the action, continued the Value Games and have made the JRod Squad section general admission so you can always hang with your friends.

In addition, we opened the fully renovated Muckleshoot Diamond Club and a brand new Press Club.

We hope you have a chance to visit T-Mobile Park this summer. There are always plenty of new spaces to explore, from the Boardwalk on the upper level, to The 'Pen, to the amazing seats behind home plate in the 300 Level.

It's going to be a big year, and we hope to share it all with you.

THE 2023 MARINERS ARE DETERMINED TO KEEP BUILDING ON THEIR PLAN FOR SUSTAINED SUCCESS.

BY KIERAN O'DWYER

"Here's the stretch, the 3-2 pitch, swing and a drive, deep to right field, stay fair. Holy smokes, he did it! Off the Hit it Here Café. Cal Raleigh with a walk-off home run! How sweet it is. The Mariners end the 20-year drought on a walk-off home run by Cal Raleigh. They win the ballgame, 2 to 1, and the Mariners are going to the playoffs!"

Just in case anybody missed the playoff-clinching call from Seattle's veteran broadcaster Rick Rizzs in the bottom of the ninth inning against Oakland on September 30, 2022, at T-Mobile Park, there you go. Even in print, it's bound to give Mariners fans goosebumps for years to come.

"I don't really have any words for it," Raleigh recalled, when asked earlier this year about that moment. Now in his second season, Seattle's catcher doesn't need words to describe it; after all, he did it. Still, he added, "It was amazing to share that with all the fans, our teammates and coaching staff and everybody here with the Mariners. It was awesome, and what a special night."

About six weeks after that epic home run reverberated across the Pacific Northwest, Raleigh's teammate Julio Rodríguez was named the American League Jackie Robinson Rookie of the Year. No surprise, considering he led rookies in numerous offensive categories, was named to the All-Star Game, and became the first player ever to hit at least 25 homers and steal 25 bases in his debut season.

"What we saw last year was the beginnings of a special career," said Executive VP and General Manager Justin Hollander. "The confidence that you see from him now, day to day, he knows he's one of the best players in the game, and I would just assume that trajectory continues."

While the Mariners rising superstar expressed deep appreciation that day for winning a prestigious individual award, he also pointed out that it was for the work he and his teammates had put in for a season that was in the rearview mirror.

"That was the 2022 Award, that's a year that's over," he respectfully remarked. "We've got 2023 now. We just got to keep on going...and get ready for the challenge again."

THE PLAN CONTINUES

As every Mariners fan knows, that challenge is putting together another breathtakingly successful season and returning to the postseason. According to President of Baseball Operations Jerry Dipoto, now that the Mariners "got over that hump," meaning their first postseason appearance since 2001, the key is continue moving forward with the club's plan for sustained success, without disrupting the existing positive clubhouse culture.

"The goal is to win the division and get into the post-season and try to do some damage," said Dipoto. "We've never been more convinced of this team's ability to do those things than we were at the end of last season. We do feel like we got meaningfully better this offseason and we are a deeper and more complete team."

To that end, Dipoto and Hollander focused on two key areas designed to help the Mariners compete for the AL West crown and to complement a dynamic core of talented young players, many of whom played their first career playoff games last season.

First and foremost, they traded for Teoscar Hernández (a middle-of-the-lineup run producer) and Kolten Wong (a left-handed hitter who gets on base) to fill position gaps in right field and second base, respectively, and deepen the lineup. Second, they signed two more productive veterans – outfielder AJ Pollock and infielder Tommy La Stella – to further bolster the offense and, along with Wong, balance the roster with players who possess significant postseason experience.

"We have a ton of talent," Dipoto said, referring to the club's youth movement of starting pitchers Logan Gilbert and George Kirby, relievers Andrés Muñoz and Matt Brash, and position players Raleigh and Rodríguez, among others, along with established players like JP Crawford and Ty France. Add last year's top-of-the-rotation acquisitions Robbie Ray and Luis Castillo to the discussion and the future looks bright.

"We believe that three to four years ago when we started collecting this group of players, and to watch it evolve the way it has on the field, has been second only to the way it's evolved in the clubhouse. We have a phenomenal group of guys. Very rare is it that you see a group that brings this much energy, coupled with this much work ethic and care for the guy next to him. That's an exciting thing."

"So, what do we expect in '23? For them to take that next step, like they have in almost every month of their Major League existence."

OVER THE HUMP

Heading into 2023, Seattle had won 90 games in each of the last two seasons, something they hadn't accomplished since the 2002 and '03 campaigns. Under the steady and caring leadership of Manager Scott Servais and his coaching staff, waves of young players – both those who emerged from Seattle's minor league system and those brought aboard by Dipoto – are becoming successful, established Big Leaguers.

"This is the deepest team we've had since I've been here – from our starting pitching to the bullpen to the regular lineup to the guys off the bench," said Servais, now in his eighth year as manager. "I think the experience that we gained with our team last year down the stretch and in the playoffs is going to really help us going forward."

Servais pointed out that the formula for the Mariners success has been and continues to be consistently excellent pitching – both from the rotation and a lockdown bullpen – and stout defense. This year's rotation returns largely intact, after recording the second-most quality starts in the AL. And last year's number-one defense in the AL looks just as solid. While those are crucial, Servais recognizes that the team has to remain healthy and added that "consistent offense is really what excites me most about our club."

It's worth noting that this season there will be new rules for all clubs to navigate. These include playing every team in the Majors; a pitch timer to speed up the pace of the game; defensive shift restrictions to help encourage more hits and athleticism; and bigger bases to increase safety and promote an uptick in aggressive base running. Go ahead and visualize Rodríguez on first base!

Earlier this year, after Raleigh reflected on Rizzs's dramatic call and Seattle's electric run to and through the playoffs, he turned his attention to the 2023 season. As if channeling the thoughts and focus of his teammates, coaches, organization and all Mariners fans, he said, "I just want to win. As long as I can help this team win, day in and day out, whatever my role might be, that's what I want to do."

Time to take the next step.

MINOR LEAGUE PLAYERS TO WATCH

The Mariners had the number one farm system in all of baseball heading into the 2022 season, propelled by top prospects Julio Rodríguez (#2) and George Kirby (#12). Rodríguez and Kirby both turned in stellar rookie campaigns for the ages.

Rodríguez took home several honors as a 21-year-old, including winning the BBWAA American League Jackie Robinson Rookie of the Year, a Silver Slugger Award and being named to the AL All-Star team and hitting 81 home runs in the MLB Home Run Derby. He also became the first player in MLB history to record at least 25 home runs and 25 stolen bases in his debut season.

Kirby was the American League's top rookie pitcher in 2022, bursting onto the scene with 6.0 scoreless innings in his Major League debut on May 8. In 25 starts, he went 8-5 and struck out 133 batters over 130.0 innings.

Rodríguez and Kirby, along with right-hander Matt Brash, were top prospects who made major contributions to Seattle's 90-win regular season and first postseason berth since 2001.

Coming into the 2023 campaign, while several top prospects have "graduated" into the big leagues or have been traded for Mariners stars such as Luis Castillo and Eugenio Suárez, Seattle still boasts a strong, powerful farm system with talent up and down the organization. Whether it is former first rounders such as Harry Ford, Cole Young and Emerson Hancock or players knocking on the door of the Major League team such as Cade Marlowe or Bryce Miller, the Mariners are well-equipped to produce more Major League-caliber players in both the very near-future and for years to come. Here's a look at nine minor league players to watch in 2023:

PRELANDER BERROA RHP

AGE 22, turns 23 on April 18

The Dominican Republic native was one of 4 pitchers in MiLB (min. 100 IP) with a sub-3.00 ERA and at least 13.0 strikeouts-per-nine innings last season.

ISAIAH CAMPBELL RHP

AGE 25, turns 26 on Aug. 15

BASEBALL'S NEWEST SUPERSTAR: JULIO RODRÍGUEZ

If the highlight reel of his 2022 season – which included 99.6 MPH throws from the outfield, diving, jumping and sliding catches, mammoth home runs and speed on the bases that would make Olympic sprinters smile – weren't enough to convince you of his superstar status, perhaps the fact that only Hall of Famers (or future Hall of Famers) have accomplished the things he did in 2022 will convince you.

In 2022, Julio became one of just four rookies aged 21-or-younger in MLB history to post 6.0+ WAR and an OPS+ of at least 145, joining Ted Williams-BOS (1939), Albert Pujols-STL (2001) and Mike Trout-LAA (2012). Furthermore, he was only the third rookie in Major League history to reach 25+ home runs and 25+ stolen bases. It took Julio just 125 games into his MLB career to reach the 25/25 mark, becoming the fastest player in history to reach that milestone, edging out Mike Trout, who took 128 games to reach the 25/25 club.

If that still isn't enough to convince you, perhaps his performance on the national stage at the 2022 Home Run Derby can. En route to a 2nd place finish, Julio clubbed 81 total home runs – 32 in his first round, 31 in his second and 18 in the finals – good for the most in the competition and narrowly losing out to then-Washington Nationals star Juan Soto.

Naturally, his electric rookie season culminated with being named the nearly unanimous 2022 American League Rookie of the Year Award (as well as a Silver Slugger).

Julio is the 5th player in Mariners history to be named Rookie of the Year and just the 2nd to be named Rookie of the Year and a Silver Slugger, joining Ichiro Suzuki (2001).

Since the club's debut season in 1977, Seattle has produced more Rookie of the Year winners than nearly every club in the American League, trailing only the Oakland Athletics, who have had 7 winners in that span.

Julio, who was named as the 16th best player right now by MLB Network, is everything the Rookie of the Year Award is meant to represent. He plays the game with a youthful exuberance that makes it hard not to bask in his joy for the game. From throwing up an "X" with his arms to the fans in the "J-Rod Squad” section in center field, to indulging his teammates in having a laugh (even if it is at his own expense), his genuine personality and love of the game has an aura that fans just can’t get enough of.

Julio was honored with a parade in his hometown of Loma de Cabrera, a town of roughly 20,000 people in the Dajabón province of the Dominican Republic, to celebrate his remarkable rookie season.

Now, entering his sophomore campaign, Julio is primed to reach even greater heights. Over his last 70 games of the 2022 season, Julio posted a .938 OPS, good for 9th-best in MLB during that span, a mark he’s looking to build on in 2023.

“My whole approach a year ago – do the best I can with my preparation and just let it take over from there,” Rodríguez said. “This year, same thing, just keep maximizing my opportunities. Just putting the best I can into my body so I can get the best outcome out of it.”

The scariest thing about Julio’s 2022 season?

According to Mariners manager Scott Servais, there is plenty of room for improvement.

“He can still really improve on last year’s season. Really improve,” Servais said on Seattle Sports (710 AM). “There are areas of growth for him all over the place. That is what excites us the most about him.”

Mariners fans, and fans of baseball, will be eagerly watching to see what Julio can do to impact the game each night.

Whether it be with a bat, in the field, on the bases or just his personality on the field and in the dugout, you can be sure Julio is a must-see attraction.

SEATTLE'S ALL-STAR HISTORY

The Mariners have a rich All-Star Game history. The club has hosted two All-Star Games, sent 89 players, as well as six coaches, to the Midsummer Classic and boasts three Most Valuable Players and three starting pitchers.

In 1979, the All-Star Game was played in Seattle for the first time, as the Kingdome was the site of 7-6 National League victory. The Midsummer Classic returned to Seattle in 2001 for a 4-1 American League triumph at T-Mobile Park.

The Mariners first All-Star representative was outfielder Ruppert Jones in 1977. Jones was just 22 years of age at the time, and he remained the club's youngest All-Star until a 20-year-old Ken Griffey Jr. in 1990.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS

Three Mariners have been named Most Valuable Player of the Midsummer Classic: Ken Griffey Jr. in 1992 (at San Diego), Ichiro Suzuki in 2007 (at San Francisco) and Robinson Canó in 2017 (at Miami).

HOME RUNS AT THE ALL-STAR GAME

Griffey, Suzuki and Canó headline a list of six Mariners who have homered in the All-Star Game. They are joined by Edgar Martinez, who went deep at the 1997 summer showcase in Cleveland. One year later, Alex Rodriguez hit a solo home run in Denver. In 2018, Jean Segura pinch hit in the 8th inning and belted a go-ahead, three-run homer in Washington, D.C.

STARTING PITCHERS

The two most successful pitchers in club history are also the only two Mariners pitchers to earn the starting nod in an All-Star Game.

Randy Johnson entered the 1995 All-Star Break with a record of 9-1, having struck out 152 batters in 109.1 innings of work. The Big Unit was on his way to his first career Cy Young Award when he was named the starting pitcher for the American League by manager Buck Showalter. Johnson worked 2.0 scoreless innings at The Ballpark in Arlington. Two years later, Johnson was again tabbed to start for the AL by manager Joe Torre.

In the first half of 2014, Félix Hernández ranked among the top-2 American League leaders in wins, ERA, innings and strikeouts, earning the start for the AL from manager John Farrell. Hernández worked 1.0 scoreless inning in Minneapolis.

Griffey and Ichiro Suzuki share the club record for most All-Star Game appearances with 10 apiece. Edgar Martinez earned 7 trips to the Midsummer Classic, while Félix Hernández had 6 and Randy Johnson had 5.

Five Mariners were selected to the 2003 All-Star Game in Chicago (AL), including 40-year-olds Martinez and Jamie Moyer. The Mariners became the first club in All-Star Game history to have a pair of 40-year-old players appear in the same Midsummer Classic.

In 2001, Freddy Garcia earned the win, while Kazuhiro Sasaki picked up the save in front of the hometown crowd. Edwin Diaz was credited with the win in the 2018 All-Star Game.

NATIONAL LEAGUE 7

AMERICAN LEAGUE 6

MVP: Dave Parker (PIT)

Ceremonial First Pitch: Danny Kaye

Mariners All-Stars: Bruce Bochte (1B), Darrell Johnson (coach)

MLB's 50th All-Star Game was played at the Kingdome on July 17, 1979, in just the third season of the Mariners franchise.

The National League won 7–6, and the game featured 16 future Hall of Fame players. Both managers (Bob Lemon-AL and Tommy Lasorda-NL) have also been inducted in Cooperstown. The sellout crowd of 58,905 was a Seattle baseball record at the time. The Kingdome was considered a "home run paradise" but only two homers were hit in the game (Fred Lynn and Lee Mazzilli).

Mariners first baseman Bruce Bochte was greeted with a long standing ovation during pregame introductions, and had the first hit and RBI by a Mariner in All-Star competition. Pittsburgh's Dave Parker, with a hit, an RBI and assists on two classic throws from right field to third base and home plate, was named the Game's MVP.

Mets center fielder Lee Mazzilli played a big role for the NL, belting a solo home run off Texas' Jim Kern in the 8th inning to even the score at 6–6. In the top of the 9th, Mazzilli drew a bases-loaded walk off the Yankees Ron Guidry to give the National League a 7–6 lead.

A pair of Hall of Famer pitchers got the starting assignments: Nolan Ryan for the American League and Steve Carlton for the National League.

The 50th Midsummer Classic was the first baseball game broadcast to a national audience from the Kingdome.

The 2001 All-Star Game was played at T-Mobile Park on July 10, just two years after the ballpark opened in July, 1999. The American League won 4–1, as several great moments were celebrated.

Cal Ripken Jr. and Tony Gwynn had already announced they would retire at the end of the season, and were presented with the Commissioner's Historic Achievement Award by Bud Selig. After a prolonged ovation from the crowd of 47,364 when he came to the plate in the third inning for the first time, Cal homered on the first pitch he saw. He was later named the Game's MVP.

The Mariners, in the midst of a record-setting 116 wins, were represented by eight players. Freddy Garcia was the winning pitcher, Kazuhiro Sasaki earned the save, while Ichiro Suzuki and Mike Cameron hit safely.

Randy Johnson started the game for the National League, his final of 4 career All-Star Game starts, including 2 with the Mariners.

TOGETHER WE RISE: SERVING OUR COMMUNITIES

A commitment to serving our communities is core to the mission of the Seattle Mariners. We are dedicated to using our unique voice, trusted partnerships, and the inspirational power of baseball to ensure that everyone in our region can thrive.

Baseball is about working together as a team to become better and stronger every day. We bring this same spirit to our work with communities throughout the Pacific Northwest. Like baseball, our community efforts require strategy and patience, persistence, and optimism.

Since the Mariners Care Foundation was established in 1991, more than $28 million has been raised to benefit primarily youth- and family-oriented community programs and partners, and we focus our efforts in three areas:

We fulfill our commitment to our mission through the following three pillars:

■ Ensuring access to baseball and softball for all: We believe all young people should have access to the many benefits of the games we love. These sports help young players become healthier and more focused, grow their confidence, and cultivate leadership skills.

■ Advancing Equity and Justice: Equitable and just communities are healthier, more vibrant, and enrich lives. All people — regardless of race, gender identity, sexuality, or socioeconomic status — have the right to succeed in school, in work, and in life. Inequities continue to disproportionately impact underrepresented people in our communities.

■ Making our Hometown More Vibrant: The Mariners Hometown community includes the entire Pacific Northwest and beyond — from Washington State to Alaska, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, and Oregon. This is a remarkable region that our fans, players, and staff are excited to call home. We are committed to working in partnership with our communities to deliver on that promise.

ENSURING ACCESS TO YOUTH BASEBALL & SOFTBALL

ON BASE (BASEBALL & SOFTBALL EVERYWHERE)

Baseball and softball bring out the best in young people — on and off the field. Yet, far too many youth cannot afford to participate in an increasingly expensive sport. Through On BASE (Baseball and Softball Everywhere), the Mariners Care Foundation funds efforts to make baseball and softball accessible to all young people in our region. These include Mariners-sponsored initiatives and collaborations with amazing community partners. We keep young people at the center of everything we do. We are inspired every day by their great ideas, tireless optimism, and determination to play the game we love.

In addition to existing youth baseball and softball programs, On BASE encompasses a variety of new efforts across the Northwest to address challenges young athletes face in their communities. Grounded in play equity data findings and recommendations, On BASE provides grants for baseball and softball teams, training opportunities for youth coaches and camps, clinics and advanced instruction for young athletes, and provides financial assistance to those who are not able to afford the cost to play.

WHAT WE'VE ACCOMPLISHED SO FAR

- Granted $350,000 to 50 high school baseball and softball programs
- Committed financial, academic, professional, and social support to our 27 Hometown Nine Fellows
- Provided low-cost baseball and softball programming and camps for youth across the Pacific Northwest through our support of organizations like Brewster Boys & Girls Club and Metro Parks Tacoma
- Expanded our geographical reach to support under-resourced schools across Washington and Oregon states
- Provided capacity-building support to MLB's Reviving Baseball In Inner Cities (RBI) programs: Baseball Beyond Borders In Washington, Friends of Baseball In Oregon, and RBI Alaska
- Offered free sports sampling camps and clinics in partnership with the King County Play Equity Coalition, Seattle professional sports teams, and Community Impact Grant Partner You GrowGirl! to promote healthy lifestyles among youth
- Convened leaders in the play equity space at T-Mobile Park across municipalities, parks districts, school districts, and youth leagues and teams at all levels, to explore barriers to access in baseball and softball and determine recommended investments

HOMETOWN NINE

In July 2020, the Mariners and Mariners Care launched the Hometown Nine — a fellowship designed to address barriers frequently encountered by student-athletes, especially young people of color. Nearly three years in, the entire Mariners organization has embraced the Hometown Nine program and contributed to its success. Mariners players and over 30 Mariners Front Office staff members serve as volunteer mentors.

The Hometown Nine is a five-year commitment to nine incoming eighth graders in King, Pierce, and Snohomish Counties each year. It provides financial, academic, professional, and social support to encourage success in the fellows' athletic careers and educational journeys. Additionally, Mariners Care underwrites the playing fees for elite baseball and softball training, offering fellows equitable access to competitive play.

Each fellow is paired with Mariners players and two Mariners Front Office staff members who serve as mentors, providing academic and professional guidance. As the Hometown Nine fellows near high school graduation, they will participate in events tailored to future academic pursuits, including college admissions prep, essay writing support, and more. In 2023, the Mariners will welcome our third class of fellows, growing the group to 36 student-athletes.

MARINERS EQUIPMENT DONATION GRANTS

Since 2017, the Mariners Equipment Donation Grants have supported student-athletes across the Pacific Northwest in their baseball and softball journeys. We strive to promote equity, improve participation, and increase competitive play regardless of a student's socioeconomic status. So far, we've granted a total of $350,000 to 50 high school baseball and softball programs. In 2023, we selected 10 schools from Washington and Oregon to receive $5,000 each. This funding will help with baseball and softball operations in under-resourced communities.

In addition to the grants, we strive to better understand the challenges that prevent young people from continuing in these beloved pastimes. That's why we've met and engaged with coaches and players from recipient schools. We believe all young athletes should have the opportunity to play baseball and softball.

ADVANCING EQUITY AND JUSTICE

The Mariners are doing our part to serve our communities. We invest in Black, Indigenous, and other People of Color (BIPOC) communities, partner with BIPOC-led businesses, and work alongside organizations that promote positive mental health for young people of color.

WHAT WE'VE ACCOMPLISHED SO FAR:

- Provided $90,000 in Community Impact grant funds to organizations led by and serving BIPOC communities

- Helped Choose 180 build capacity to better serve youth in their programs

COMMUNITY IMPACT GRANTS

In July 2020, we announced our $1 million Community Impact Grant program as part of a broader commitment to invest in programs, organizations, and partnerships focused on remedying historic inequities in health and economic security through policy advocacy and community-based initiatives. These grants fund organizations that improve the physical and mental health of young people and accelerate equitable outcomes for BIPOC communities. For 2021–22, the Mariners Care Foundation announced the first five grant recipients. In 2023, the Mariners Care Foundation selected a new group of worthy

ON BASE YOUTH CLINICS

The Mariners host On BASE Youth Clinics to help young athletes gain exposure to bat-and-ball sports and encourage continued play in their local youth leagues. Our Hometown Nine Fellows give back to the game they love through volunteering and supporting the next generation of ballplayers in their development.

ON BASE COACHES CLINICS

The Mariners believe that a memorable and transformative playing experience starts with a motivated and dedicated coach. The Mariners host multiple On BASE Coaches Clinics throughout the Pacific Northwest. Coaches Clinics cover topics such as preparing practice plans, anti-bias training, creating a safe space for LGBTQ+ athletes, and more.

grant recipients working to advance health and equitable outcomes in our communities. The 2023 grantees are:

- Rainier Athletes
- Your Money Matters Mentoring
- The Hopes and Dreams Foundation
- Sustainable Seattle
- Southeast Youth and Family Service

ACCELERATING EQUITABLE OUTCOMES FOR BIPOC BUSINESSES

We're continuing to evaluate and evolve the way we spend money on our business partnerships. We aim to create more opportunities for BIPOC-owned businesses by spending at least $2 million each year with them. Additionally, the Mariners are helping BIPOC business owners get the skills, training, and support they need to thrive. Through the Community Impact Grants, the Mariners Care Foundation provided scholarships for five local BIPOC business owners so they could participate in the University of Washington's Foster School of Business Minority Business Executive Program. Through their coursework, participants learned how to use financial tools, create strategic plans for growth, deploy new technology, and scale their business. We also partner with The Intentionalist, an online guide to intentional spending that supports small businesses and diverse local communities. This online directory and engagement tool makes it easy for community members to find and support local restaurants, bars, gyms, shops, and more owned by women, people of color, veterans, LGBTQ+, families, and disabled people.

MARINERS DAY OF SERVICE

The Mariners are committed to hosting events where our staff come together for organization-wide service projects that support our Purpose and Mission. Through these projects our staff get the opportunity to give back and learn about our community's needs, while strengthening our connections with each other and having fun.

In August of 2022, the Mariners worked with schools in the Seattle, Highline and Tukwila School Districts to partner on a series of campus beautification projects. Our staff met at three different school sites and spent several hours gardening, cleaning and helping with other back-to-school readiness projects.

WASHINGTON STATE COALITION AGAINST DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

We are proud of our over 25 years of partnership between the Washington State Coalition Against Domestic Violence and the Seattle Mariners – the first of its kind across professional sports. In 1996, we jointly launched a public awareness campaign called Refuse To Abuse®. The goal of the campaign was to increase awareness about domestic violence and how to take preventive measures to help eradicate abuse. Our partnership has expanded to an annual Refuse To Abuse® 5K run and walk at T-Mobile Park. Funds from the event support the Coalition's state-wide violence prevention efforts including youth engagement, training development, and advocacy for laws and programs that focus on violence prevention and protection for survivors of abuse. In 2022, the run raised $120,000.

MARINERS PLAYERS & FAMILIES GIVE BACK

Seattle Mariners players and their families have been giving back to the Pacific Northwest since 1977. From Major League Baseball programs with local ties, to awareness-based campaigns like Refuse to Abuse, to youth-focused programs like the PLAY Campaign, Mariners players are committed to making a positive impact off the field in the vibrant communities we share. Additionally, Mariners Wives Charities support a variety of fundraising and service projects, including the Favorite Things Basket Auction, Pencils & Pants School Drive, and the Seattle Angels Prom Series.

OUR COMMITMENT

The entire Mariners Organization – from our front office staff to our players – is committed to using our time, talent, and resources to support community organizations. Together, we are working to make the Pacific Northwest a place where everyone can thrive.

CHAIRMEN

JOHN STANTON | CHAIRMAN & MANAGING PARTNER

John Stanton is the Mariners Chairman & Managing Partner. He was named Chairman on Aug. 19, 2016, and has served in that role since. Stanton joined the Mariners ownership group in December of 2000, and became a member of the Board of Directors in 2016.

Stanton consistently leads the organization with a focus on the Mariners Mission: We are dedicated to winning championships, creating unforgettable experiences and serving our communities.

Born in Seattle and raised in Bellevue, WA, Stanton is considered a wireless industry pioneer, co-founding three national wireless operators in the United States over the past four decades.

He is currently Chairman of the Trilogy Partnerships, a private investment firm, and also serves on the boards of the Microsoft Corporation and Costco Wholesale Corporation. He is Chairman of Year Up of Puget Sound (a non-profit program for youth), and a member of the board of the Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation, after previously serving as chair (or co-chair) of the boards of Whitman College, the Business Partnership for Early Learning, the United Way of King County campaign, the Washington Roundtable and the Regional Transportation Commission.

John and his wife Terry Gillespie also own interests in the Tacoma Rainiers (Pacific Coast League) and in the Walla Walla Sweets and Yakima Pippins of the West Coast Collegiate Baseball League. He has been active in youth baseball in the area for over 25 years.

John earned a B.A. from Whitman College (Walla Walla, WA) and an MBA from Harvard Business School. John and Terry have two grown sons.

HOWARD LINCOLN | CHAIRMAN EMERITUS

A key player in the formation of the ownership group that saved the Mariners for Seattle in 1992, Howard Lincoln served as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer from Sept. 27, 1999 to Aug. 19, 2016, when he was named Chairman Emeritus. His service was recognized with the Seattle Mariners Franchise Achievement Award in 2016. Lincoln continues as a member of the board of directors.

On Feb. 14, 2000 Lincoln retired from his position as chairman of Nintendo of America, Inc. to devote his full efforts to the Mariners. Lincoln joined Nintendo as its senior vice president and general counsel in January 1983. In February 1994, he was elected to the board of Nintendo of America, Inc. and appointed chairman of the company.

Philanthropy plays an important role in Lincoln's life. In addition to his strong support of the Mariners Foundation, he is a former chairman of the Children's Hospital Foundation. He was the Campaign Chair of United Way of King County's 2003/04 Annual Campaign. Lincoln is a board member of The Washington Roundtable.

Lincoln is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, and holds a law degree from Boalt Hall, the University of California School of Law. Following graduation from law school, Lincoln served as a Lieutenant in the U.S. Navy Judge Advocate General's Corps from 1966 to 1970. He practiced law in Seattle from 1970 to 1983. He and his wife, Grace, reside on Mercer Island. Their son, Brad, and his wife, Kim, have two children: Ethan and Benjamin.

JOHN ELLIS | CHAIRMAN EMERITUS

A life-long resident of the Seattle area, John Ellis led the efforts to keep Major League Baseball in the Pacific Northwest. Upon transfer of the Mariners franchise to the new ownership group, Ellis became its first chairman and CEO, serving from June 29, 1992 until September 27, 1999, when he was named Chairman Emeritus. Ellis continues as a member of the Mariners Board of Directors.

During the seven full seasons of his tenure, the Mariners only finished below .500 once, while winning two Division titles and narrowly missing a third. Community and fan support improved enormously – attendance grew from 1,651,398 in 1992 to 3,507,975 in 2001. The greatest accomplishment under his leadership was the construction of our world-class ballpark, T-Mobile Park.

His service was recognized with the Seattle Mariners Franchise Achievement Award in 2016.

Ellis has served variously on the MLB Executive Council, the International, Ownership and Compensation & Finance Committee and he chaired the Baseball Endowment Limited Partnership (BELP) Committee.

John started his career as a lawyer with Perkins Coie in 1953 (where he is now of counsel). He then joined Puget Sound Power & Light Company (now Puget Sound Energy) in 1970, where he served variously as President, C.E.O. and Chairman until his retirement in 1993. During his utility career he served nationally as Chair of the Edison Electric Institute, and the Electric Power Research Institute.

Although a loyal Husky, he was also Chair of the Board of Regents of Washington State University and Seattle University, uniquely at the same time. He has 4 children and 8 grandchildren – all Mariners fans.

PRESIDENTS

JERRY DIPOTO | PRESIDENT, BASEBALL OPERATIONS

Jerry Dipoto (dih-POH-toe) was promoted to President, Baseball Operations on Sept. 1, 2021. Dipoto is in his eighth full season with the Mariners after he was originally hired on Sept. 28, 2015.

In his first three seasons in charge (2016–18), the Mariners had the 5th-most wins in the American League, trailing only Boston, Houston, Cleveland and New York.

In 2022, the Mariners posted their second-consecutive 90–72 record, finishing 2nd in the American League West Division, and advancing to the Postseason. Following the season, the Mariners were named MLB Organization of the Year by Baseball America. Seattle swept the Toronto Blue Jays in the Wild Card series before falling to Houston in the Division Series. The Mariners are one of just six MLB teams to win 90+ games in each of the past two years.

Prior to 2019, Dipoto led a re-imagining of the Mariners, making 8 trades in a 6-week period between Nov. 8–Dec. 21 to acquire 16 players and position a younger, more athletic, deeper, more controllable roster for greater success in the future. Beginning in 2019 and accelerating over the last three seasons, that talent has populated the Mariners Major League roster.

In 2018, Seattle won 89 games and the team's 253 wins over 2016–18 is its highest total in a three-year span since 2001–2003.

In his first months on the job in 2016, Dipoto completely remade the Mariners Major League roster, as well as revamping the Mariners Major League staff, scouting and player development departments.

The reshaping of the roster and minor league system resulted in the 2016 Mariners organization playing 927 total games (at all levels) and only one -- the final regular season game for the big league club -- not having playoff implications. The Mariners were in the race through 161 games, and each of the seven minor league affiliates advanced to the postseason.

Prior to being hired by Seattle, Dipoto was working as a Special Assistant for the Boston Red Sox. He joined the Sox after resigning from his position as the Los Angeles Angels General Manager on July 1, 2015.

Dipoto was the Angels GM from Oct. 29, 2011–July 1, 2015, helping guide the club to the American League West title in 2014, finishing with the most wins (98) in the Majors. Notable acquisitions during his Angels tenure included trades for All-Stars Huston Street, Zack Greinke, David Freese and Héctor Santiago, and the free agent signings of Albert Pujols (2011) and C.J. Wilson (2011).

In his 23rd season as a baseball executive, and his 12th as a General Manager, Jerry got his start immediately after retiring as a player in 2001. He was a special assistant for the Colorado Rockies (2001–02), followed by two seasons working in the scouting department for the Boston Red Sox (2003–04). He returned to the Rockies as the Director of Player Personnel (2005) and then moved to the Arizona organization as Vice President of Player Personnel (2006–10) and was appointed the Diamondbacks interim General Manager on July 1, 2010. He spent the 2011 season as the D-Backs Sr. VP of Scouting and Player Development.

Dipoto appeared in 390 Major League games, all in relief, with the Indians (1993–94), New York Mets (1995–96) and Colorado Rockies (1997–2000). A right-handed pitcher, he compiled a career 27–24 record with 49 saves and a 4.05 ERA prior to retiring during Spring Training in 2001 with a bulging disc in his neck.

He was originally selected by Cleveland in the 3rd round of the 1989 June Draft out of Virginia Commonwealth University (Richmond, VA). Dipoto led the Rams to their first appearance in the NCAA Tournament in 1988 and remains in the top 10 in VCU history in several pitching categories. Dipoto played high school baseball at Toms River High School North in New Jersey.

Jerry and his wife, Tamie, reside in Mercer Island, WA. They have two daughters: Taylor (husband Andrew) and Jordan (husband Osmond), and one son, Jonah (wife Lauren).

CATIE GRIGGS | PRESIDENT, BUSINESS OPERATIONS

Catie Griggs was named President of Business Operations for the Mariners on July 27, 2021.

She is responsible for all aspects of the Mariners business operations. With the exception of Jerry Dipoto, Justin Hollander and baseball operations, the Mariners Executive Vice Presidents and Sr. Vice Presidents report to Griggs and form the senior leadership team of the organization.

Griggs has installed a laser-focus across the organization on serving Mariners fans. This commitment to fans is supported by data-driven decision making. In April, 2022 the Sports Business Journal honored Catie with the Forty under 40 Award.

Prior to joining the Mariners, Griggs spent the previous four years (2017–2021) helping build Atlanta United into one of the premier Major League Soccer franchises. She was Chief Business Officer, overseeing all aspects of the Atlanta United front office, including the strategic decisions leading to the record-setting attendance, matchday production and operations in and around Mercedes-Benz Stadium, the team's supporter groups and broadcasting.

She also directed the team's community relations efforts, overseeing $2.5M in donations and more than 22,000 volunteer hours in support of community events in 2019, and proactively pursued efforts to increase the diversity within the club front office and its efforts in the community and in growing fan base.

In 2019, the Atlanta United was named Sports Team of the Year, while its home, Mercedes-Benz Stadium, received Sports Facility of the Year at the Sports Business Awards; MLS Marketing Team of the Year, PR Team of the Year and Social Team of the Year; and Atlanta Sports Council's Team of the Year.

In 2017, she was named a Sports Business Journal Game Changer, an annual award that honors women leaders across all aspects of sports business.

Prior to joining Atlanta United, Griggs was with Futures Sport & Entertainment, a cross-platform global media and sponsorships analytics consultancy that is part of the Interpublic Group of Agencies. She launched the firm's Americas operations in 2015 and led it to significant growth prior to her departure. She came to Futures Sport & Entertainment after five years at Turner Broadcasting where she served in various roles, including strategy, business operations, strategic partnerships and business development, and media rights negotiations.

A North Carolina native, Griggs received her B.A. (in Government) from Dartmouth College and her MBA from the Tuck School of Business at Dartmouth. Catie and her husband, Justin, have two children.

BROADCAST TEAM

The best teams are always built with a range of skills, experiences and tenure. The Mariners broadcast team is no different.

Rick Rizzs, Dave Sims, Aaron Goldsmith and Mike Blowers form a talented, entertaining, knowledgeable team of announcers.

Rick Rizzs is the Mariners primary voice on radio while Dave Sims is the lead TV play-by-play man. Aaron Goldsmith does both radio and TV throughout the season and Mike Blowers is the primary analyst on TV. In addition, Gary Hill Jr. chips in on the radio side and former Mariners catcher Dan Wilson contributes regularly on Radio and TV.

The Mariners radio and TV coverage reaches the largest geographic region in Major League Baseball, stretching east to eastern Washington, Idaho and Montana, south to Oregon and north to Alaska, British Columbia and Alberta.

Flagship radio station Seattle Sports (710 AM) anchors the Mariners Radio Network, broadcasting all 162 regular-season games. On TV, ROOT SPORTS™ Northwest will televise every game that is not nationally televised by one of MLB's national rights holders.

Rick Rizzs is in his 38th season with the broadcast team. That surpasses the legendary Dave Niehaus (34 years) for longest tenure in Mariners history. Rick joined the team in 1983, took a brief sabbatical to be the Detroit Tigers lead announcer from 1992-94, but returned to Seattle in time for the 1995 season.

"Every day I'm excited to go out to a ballpark to do my job! I love everything about the game – the ebb and flow, the great stories along the way, the history, the fans and the people who work at the ballpark."

Rizzs, winner of the 2017 Keith Jackson Award, spends each off-season raising money to provide holiday toys for children in need. In 2022, the 28th year of Ricks' Toys for Kids, over 17,000 homeless, hospitalized or disadvantaged children received gifts because of his efforts. He has raised over 4 million dollars to purchase gifts, provide food vouchers and, beginning in 2016, awarded 10 college scholarships in honor of Dave Henderson.

Aaron Goldsmith is in his 11th season with the Mariners. He does play-by-play on both radio broadcasts and TV telecasts.

"It's been a tremendous experience for me to come to Seattle and broadcast Mariners baseball," Goldsmith said. "The fans are passionate about the team, but so welcoming to all of us in the broadcast booth."

Sports fans can hear (and see) Aaron year-round. In addition to his work on the Mariners Hot Stove League Show, Cactus League Report and Sunday Mariners Magazine, Aaron hosts The Wheelhouse with Jerry Dipoto podcast. He also calls MLB and college basketball for FOX Sports.

Dave Sims is in his 17th season as the lead announcer on Mariners telecasts while contributing regularly on the MLB Network. He was voted Washington State Broadcaster of the Year In three consecutive seasons (2018-20).

"Having spent most of my life and career on the East Coast, I have been really touched by how welcoming the fans of the Northwest have been," Sims said. "I've enjoyed every bit of my time with the Mariners."

Sims is a native of Philadelphia. He began his professional career in 1975 as a sportswriter for the New York Daily News where he covered college sports, professional soccer and the NBA. His broadcasting career began in 1982 and he is a two-time Emmy Award winner for his on-air work.

Mike Blowers, also in his 16th season on TV, is a longtime fan favorite who had three tours (1992-95, 1997 and 1999) as a player with the Mariners. During his 11-year Major League career, Blowers also played for the Yankees (1989-91), Dodgers (1996) and A's (1998). He played in the postseason with the Mariners in 1995 and 1997, and set career highs in nearly every statistical category during the memorable 1995 season. He tied a Major League record with three grand slams in a month in August of '95.

"Having grown up here and getting to play for the Mariners was a career highlight of mine," Blowers said. "To be able to stay connected to the team as a broadcaster has been terrific for me and my family."

Mike is a native of Spanaway, WA, and played baseball at the University of Washington.

ADDITIONAL CONTRIBUTORS

Gary Hill Jr. is in his sixth season as the Executive Producer/Engineer for all Mariners radio broadcasts. The Tacoma native joined the club fulltime in 2018 after spending the previous eight seasons in a variety of roles with the Mariners Radio Network.

Gary Hill Jr.

Since 2010, Gary has hosted Mariners pre- and post-game shows, filled in on play-by-play duties, hosted the Mariners official daily podcast and contributed to Sunday Mariners Magazine. In his current role, he continues to have an on-air presence as a member of the Mariners broadcast team.

Gary is a fixture on local sports radio, covering baseball, basketball and football. He is currently the voice of the Washington women's basketball team.

Dan Wilson is in his 13th season as a regular contributor to the Mariners TV and Radio broadcasts.

The Mariners Hall of Famer played more games as a catcher than any other player in Mariners History [1,281]. He played in 14 Major League seasons, 2 with Cincinnati [1992–93] and 12 with the Mariners [1994–2005].

Since 2014, Willson has worked in the Mariners organization, including the last 6 seasons as a Special Assistant for Player Development.

Dan Wilson

SPANISH PLAY-BY-PLAY

Alex Rivera is in his 17th season as the Spanish play-by-play voice of the Mariners on the Mariners Spanish audio feed provided by ROOT SPORTS™ for home games on most programming services.

Alex Rivera

The Spanish audio feed is produced by Steve Gausch. Gausch has been working on the Mariners Spanish broadcasts for the last 17 years, joining the club in 2006.

All Mariners regular season games (except those restricted by MLB national agreements) can be seen on ROOT SPORTS™ in standard and high definition. ROOT SPORTS™ is distributed throughout the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Alaska.

Left arm across his chest, a glossy, black bat trailing behind in his right hand, eyes skyward, tracking the path of a just-hit baseball as it heads over the fence for another home run. Dave Niehaus Location: Main Level at SEC 105.
